FIRED FROM JOBS

Fired From Jobs — More than 30 men have been fired from their jobs in the Memphis Public Works department in recent weeks, and the victims say it is because of efforts of the Retail Clerks Union, Local 1529 (AFL-CIO), to organize the men. On front row, from left, are Hurliah Cotton, 338-F Dixie Mall; John Lacy, 341 N. Dunlap; Calvin Carrow, 2183 Kansas; Forrest Stone, 1389 Keating, and Henry Donnerston, 3188 Ford rd. On second row, same order, are Jesse Jackson, 740 S. Lauderdale; John W. Jones, 476 E. Olive; Houston Cooperwood, 450 E. Caroline, and Jesse Stone, 917 Stafford. In rear, from left, are Tom Reed, 755 Mosby; Thomas O. Jones, 1565 Orr; Sargent Carpenter, 769 Castle, and Jimmie Newsom, 1084 Orleans. The men had worked a total of 71 years for the city at the time they were fired. (Mark Stansbury Photo)

Garbage Men Working In Fear Since More Than 30 Were Fired

By M. L. REID

"Our men are scared to death, because they don't know when someone will come out, take them off the truck, carry them to the barn and tell them they are finished. That's happening, you know."

That was pretty much the feelings expressed by sanitation workers employed by the Memphis Public Works department last week when this reporter went out and made surveys of the men as they emptied garbage cans and barrels in tubs under a 90 degree sun.

So fearful were some of the men that they might be fired if seen talking to someone about the red hot issue, that they said, "If the driver of the truck asks us what you were talking about, we are going to tell him you were trying to find a house number."

Asked if they would join the union if they were not afraid they would be fired, the sanitation workers said, "Yes, we would join it if it didn't mean that we would be fired. But we have been told to stay away from the union hall."

'GOOD WORKERS'
One Negro foreman, who said he preferred to withhold his name, said two men who had worked with him for several years and who were very hard workers, were called off the truck and taken away by a supervisor.

"When I asked where they were, at the end of the day," he said, "I was told that they had been fired for inefficiency. I was never asked about their work. They were hard workers."

"During this hot weather," he said, "the men need a little rest every now and then. But look at them," he pointed to a pair with their clothes and faces dripping with perspiration. As the men eyed this reporter suspiciously, the man said, "They are scared. They think each day might be their last. They have been working with the department for years, and when you are over 50 years old, it is very hard to find another job. It is even hard for the young ones to find work."

READING LIFE
After hearing the garbage men's side of the story, this reporter went to Commissioner William Farris' office for an interview.

An hour before that a statement was issued by Leon E. Sheppard of the Retail Clerks Union, Local 1529, (AFL-CIO). Commissioner Farris was asked about the Union's proposal that a committee of ministers be allowed to check on the controversy which had arisen in his department and report the findings to the public.

'MY DECISION'
The Commissioner stated that while he had the "greatest respect for the ministers of the gospel, I must reject the offer because it is a decision that I must make as an official elected by the people."

In an aside comment, the Commissioner told a telephone caller, "They aren't fooling me one bit. Some of these preachers are encouraging the men to join the union, and even taking them to the union hall in their own cars."

Commissioner Farris said that vast improvements had been added to the department since he took over, and they include twice-a-year raises, hospitalization and a credit union.

FIRING OLD MEN
He admitted, however, that longevity on the job did not mean safety from firing.

Asked about one individual with 18 years of service who was fired, Commissioner Farris explained "Oh him. I know about his case because a number of people have been calling about him asking me to put him back to work."

"But he was never any good. Frankly, I would not know the man if he were to walk in that door, but I am going on what was told me. The fact that a man has been on a job a long time does not mean a thing. We have fired them with 20 years of service. A man might work well one year and then be no good the next, and we have to get rid of them," he said.

Commissioner Farris said that if the men did vote to have the Retail Clerks Union, Local 1529, AFL-CIO represent them, it would be a matter for the entire City Commission to decide whether he would be permitted to recognize them.

WHITES IN UNIONS
He added that there were workers in the Public Works department that held membership in the union, but these are skills in which no Negroes are employed.

Among the improvements that the sanitation workers want, are uniforms in which to work and showers installed in the barns.

At present the men have to ride home in the offensive smelling clothes they work in during the day, and must keep the germ-laden garments in the house during the night.

They want to leave the garments in the barns after they leave work.

Conn. Official To Address Demos At Fund-Raising

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Gerald A. Lamb, Negro treasurer of the State of Connecticut, will come here to give the principal address at a fund-raising dinner Friday, July 12 at 7:30 p.m.

Sponsored by the Davidson County Democratic League, Inc., the dinner will be held at the air-conditioned National Guard Armory, Sidco Drive, R. C. Crutchfield, Jr., public relations chairman for the dinner, said its purpose is to raise sufficient funds to allow the DCCL to have full participation in the 1964 elections.

Gov. Frank G. Clement and Nashville Metropolitan Mayor Beverly Briley head a list of state and local officials invited to attend the dinner, Crutchfield said.

Lamb, former alderman of Waterbury, Conn., was elected to his present high office in November, 1962, by a plurality of more than 70,000 votes. For the past three years he has been secretary of the Connecticut Federation of Negro Democratic Clubs.

Orange Mound Women Hurt In Bus Accident

Tommy Parker, Sr., of West Memphis, Ark., father of a former Tri-State Defender reporter, Tommy Parker, Jr., and two elderly cousins of the Orange Mound community, were among the 52 persons injured when a Greyhound bus bound for St. Louis, Mo., skidded off the highway and overturned. Three passengers were killed in the accident.

Mrs. Carrie Brown, 72, of 790 Cella, and her cousin, Mrs. Lillian Moore, 65, of 2272 Zanone, were carried to hospitals in the St. Louis area for treatment.

According to Mrs. Moore's sister, Mrs. Cindy West, who lived with her on Zanone, the women were headed to Kansas City, Kansas, to visit Mrs. Brown's son, Tolton Woods, and left here last Saturday evening.

Mrs. Moore's two sons, Loy-al Moore of 2266 Zanone, and Leander Woods, left for St. Louis on Monday to see about the women.

Mrs. Parker said her husband called her on Sunday and told her that he had hurt his arm, neck and side, but that after he was treated he continued on to the home of a sister in St. Louis, Mo.

Mrs. Parker said her husband was going to that city to visit two sisters, Miss Sallie Parker and Mrs. Susie Booker.

Mr. Parker told her that he was supposed to return to the hospital again on Monday for treatment.

Police Search For Man, 44, Accused Of Shooting Pretty, 23, Woman In Hip

Police were still searching 1179 S. Parkway East, accused of shooting a pretty 23-year-old woman in the hip last Wednesday afternoon at Anna Belle's cafe, 205 S. Hernando St.

Shot was Mrs. Nudye Fisher Neal who lives above the cafe at 205 Hernando. Witnesses said Rambo fired three shots from the pistol, one striking Mrs. Neal as she was on duty as a cashier in the cafe, owned and operated by her mother, Mrs. Anna B. Fisher of the same address.

Mrs. Neal was carried to John Gaston hospital, however since that time she has been released and is at home recovering.

Witnesses who saw Rambo leave the cafe immediately after the shooting could not tell what direction he went.

It is reported that Rambo's wife was out of town at the time. The telephone at his home has been disconnected.

Mrs. Fisher told a Tri State reporter that she was in the kitchen of the cafe when she heard the shots. She rushed to her daughter but could not tell what led up to the shooting. She said she did not hear any argument nor know the reason for the attack.

Mrs. Neal was not available for comment.

Mississippi Negro Priest Opens Session In House

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — A Mississippi Negro priest opened a house session with a prayer for divine guidance in passage of civil rights legislation.

Delivering the invocation, a daily house rite normally conducted by the Rev. Bernard Braskamp, House Chaplain, was the very Rev. Harold R. Perry, rector of St. Augustine's Mission Seminary, Bay St. Louis, Miss.

"Too long have we ignored your laws, of God, giver of human dignity and human rights," said Father Perry. "Grant that we may now at last have the courage to meet the challenge of this critical hour to seize this historic opportunity you have given us for healing an ancient rupture in our national family."

Father Perry is the only Negro within memory of House old-timers to deliver the opening invocation. Speaker John W. McCormack, who issued the invitation, said Father Perry also is the only Negro rector of a Catholic Seminary in this country.

His Body Found In Closet In Sitting Position After Police Searched House

When Lemmie Cobb of 2398 Silver in Holiday Heights had his car repossessed, he was given until last Friday to raise the money and get it back.

He tried to persuade his wife, Mrs. Corinne Cobb, to borrow the money for him, and when she refused he thought that he could not live without his car.

According to one neighbor, Mrs. Cobb called her early on the morning of July 4 and told her that her husband had struck her and asked her to shoot him, but that she had refused.

Mrs. Cobb later told police that when her husband kept talking in a desperate manner she left the house and found refuge in the home of a neighbor.

WAS IN CLOSET

Around 7 a.m., after being away from the house a few hours, Mrs. Cobb decided to return home, but afraid to go by herself, she begged members of the family across the street to accompany her. They suggested that she call police, especially since she told them about the shotgun. When police arrived they found the house locked and had to cut a screen to get in. But still they saw no one in the house. Mrs. Cobb told the officers that her husband sometimes hid in the closet.

While Mrs. Cobb remained in the living room with Miss Emma Kirkland of 2405 Silver, the police began checking the closets. When they reached the one in the den they found Mr. Cobb sitting inside with a gaping hole in his chest. A shotgun was at his side.

After being pronounced dead at John Gaston hospital, police ruled his death as a suicide.

Neighbors said that no one could remember hearing the blast which ended the victim's life.

Final rites were held last Sunday* in Knight's Chapel CME church in Hernando, Miss., with Elder J. B. Washington officiating.

R. S. Lewis and Sons Funeral home was in charge of final arrangements. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Noted British Actor Comes To America For Film Engagement

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — low" with Robert Mitchum and Jack Lemmon and "King of Kings."

Noted British Shakespearean actor and screen star, Edric Connor, arrived in Hollywood this week for an important featured role in "Four For Texas," now being produced and directed by Robert Aldrich for Warner Bros. Appearing in the Technicolor extravaganza with Connor are Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, Anita Ekberg and Ursula Andress. Though he has appeared in many American films produced abroad, this is his first American feature in Hollywood. In it, he portrays Dean Martin's friend and sidekick in Galveston of the 1870's as together they break up the gambling combine which rules the town.

Connor was born in Trinidad in the West Indies, where he became a famous actor and operatic star, as well as recording artist. He was brought to London by the Royal Court theatre for a lead role opposite Rex Harrison in Shakespeare's "Pericles," and from there his motion picture career zoomed. Some of his American films include "The Vikings" with Kirk Douglas, "Fire Down Below" with Burt Lancaster, and "The Longest Day" with several stars.

Making Plans To Enter Civil Rights Struggle

SOMERVILLE, Tenn. — Approximately 100 young people here and in Fayette County are in the process of organizing with the intentions of carrying on activities for the civil rights fight which has swept across America, said Clarence Wright, 21, of here, and Robert F. Barber, 29, formerly of Kalamazoo, Mich.

Wright, a sophomore at Tennessee State A&I University said he is affiliated with the Southern Christian Leadership Council and participated in sit-ins in Memphis in 1961.

Barber, who said he taught social science in Kalamazoo public schools, is a board member of that city's Human Relations Council and also a board member of Southwestern Michigan Chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union.

The two young men said that they have several meetings with groups which have not been named yet.

To Do Research At St. Jude

A physician now completing her pediatric residency at Tobey Children's Hospital in Memphis has been awarded a United States Public Health Service research fellowship for work at St. Jude hospital.

Dr. Kathleen Hernandez, who received her M.D. degree from Louisiana State University in 1961, will join the St. Jude Hospital staff in October to study cancer chemotherapy — the use of drugs in treatment of cancer.

Dr. Hernandez completed her internship and residency at Charity hospital in New Orleans and was employed as a public health officer from 1954 to 1961.

Since 1961 she has been a pediatric resident at Tobey hospital, and has worked briefly at St. Jude hospital under a program through which University of Tennessee pediatric residents each spend two months at the research institute.

GENEVA — (UPI) — United Nations Secretary General U. Thant has ordered all U. N. troops to leave the Congo by the end of the year to save money, it was announced.

The United States had asked that the troops remain to prevent violence until reorganization of the Central Congolese Army is completed.

Airmen Involvement In Protests OK'd

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The Pentagon said major air force commands have been advised that off-duty servicemen may participate in desegregation demonstrations when not in uniform and there is no danger of injury or damage to property.

The Pentagon said the guidance memo, which was not sent to the Army or Navy, advised that the Air Force had no power to prevent a person from exercising his constitutional rights if there is no involvement of the service nor violation of laws or regulations.

New Bias Angle

NEW YORK — Here's a new angle on the theater integration hassle in the South. A Greensboro, N. C. theater man who declined to be quoted said:

"Integration will be handled soon on a gradual basis. If 25 or so show up, we'll admit them. But, we'll lower the price so much on the top balcony that they'll want to sit up there."

Obviously, he forgot that some whites might take advantage of the lower price, too.

67,000 Hear Witnesses Leader Hit Marital Woe

NEW YORK (UPI) — The huge ball park was overflowing with people, as it often is on a sun-kissed Sunday during the summer months. But baseball was not the attraction at Yankee Stadium on this occasion.

The Yankees were going about their business out in Cleveland and, at least for the time being, their vast home belonged to the Jehovah's Witnesses.

More than 67,000 Witnesses assembled at the ball park for the opening of their convention and by the end of the week, that figure is expected to swell to 125,000.

Those who were on hand for the opening session heard J. W. Wischuk, a top official of the Witnesses, proclaim that "we don't have any problem with marital breakup, or with juvenile delinquency."

Wischuk explained that the two reasons why so many marriages fail are because the husband relinquishes his role of natural leader and the wife fails to follow the Biblical injunction to be "submissive."

He said that in happy homes, the man "is the head and makes all the major decisions. A husband may, of course, lovingly consult with his wife on some points, but he right-fully bears the leadership responsibility."

Wischuk then quoted from scripture where women are admonished: "wives, be subject to your husbands."

"FRESH UP"

with...

YOU LIKE IT...
IT LIKES YOU!

By CARLOTTA WATSON

Counselor

B. T. Washington High School
MUSING:

"If you have kind words to say,

SAY THEM NOW.
Tomorrow may not come your way.

Do a kindness while you may.
Loved ones will not always stray.

SAY THEM NOW.
If you have a smile to show,
SHOW IT NOW.

Make hearts happy, roses grow.
Let the friends around you know.

The love you have before they go:
SHOW IT NOW!"

Dear Mrs. Watson:
Please give me some advice.

A man 47 years old says he is in love with me. My husband is 24, and all he does is tell me about his other girl friends.

What can I do?

Dear Worried:
You are not nearly as worried as you will be if you continue your escapade. You are not in love with the 47-year-old man... though you did not say you were in your letter... I have read between the lines. You may be able to use this older man to your advantage in a fatherly way.

Now don't get caught in a web.
Also lest you forget... two wrongs do not make right. You and your husband are both young... and without my pointing out any specific way
... why not give your marriage a chance.

FROM THE COLUMNIST:
Good bye for summer. I am going away for relaxation. Like the postman who goes for a walk during his vacation, my recipe for complete relaxation is:

Take one large grassy field.
One half dozen children.
Two or three small unpetting dogs.

A pinch of brook and some pebbles;
Mix the children and the dogs
well together.

And put them in the field constantly stirring.
Pour the brook over the pebbles;

Sprinkle the field with flowers.
Spread over all a deep blue sky
... And bake in the sun!

Boy you can only find this in the country, and that is where I am going...

Watch for this column...
the first Friday in September.

CORE Meeting Warns Of Riots In New York

DAYTON, Ohio — (UPI) — The National convention of the Congress of Racial Equality heard a discouraging report on voter registration efforts in Mississippi and a grim warning of racial rioting in New York City.

Five Mississippi CORE members reported that less than 100 of a Negro population of 29,000 in Madison County have been registered to vote.

They told of persistent police and segregationist harassment in the county, which numbers about 9,000 whites. They said local newspapers print the names of registered Negroes, who then are harassed by police and fired from their jobs.

Mrs. Rebecca McDonald, of Ruleville, near Canton, Miss., said she and her husband were fired from their jobs when they registered and when they housed CORE leaders in their home.

Doris Erskins, 21, who commutes to work between Jackson, Miss., and Canton, said she always had two or three men passengers in her car because she was often stopped by local police and feared being manhandled if she traveled alone.

A CORE leader from New York predicted "Hell in Harlem this summer." Mrs. Gladys Harrington said she dreaded what will happen July 1 "When relief checks come."

Land Of Justice

Never! Never! Never!
In Jackson, Mississippi, adamant whites dedicated to the preservation of the past and the petrification of the human ideal are known to wear buttons on which the word "Never" appears.

And Governor Wallace wears the biggest "never" button of all.

The wearers of never buttons have an ally: it is the courts which attempt to thwart Constitutional precedents.

At least the courts have been too often, in the past, the ally of the never never minds in the never never land of Dixie.

In spite of the display of Presidential force in compelling the admittance of two students to the University of Alabama, we find that diehard Wallace moves back to the courts, to fight to the finish, to use the veneer of "legality" endlessly so as to oppose ordinary educational decency.

When will they ever learn that no principle of states rights, of local regulation, of property rights, can

Unused Weapon

Governor Bert Combs of Kentucky has used his executive authority to strike a telling blow at racial discrimination in public places. Similar authority residing in other states could effectively be used by other Governors and local authorities if they wish to demonstrate and prove satisfactorily that they are sincerely and genuinely concerned over the civil rights crisis.

The Kentucky Governor has issued an Executive Order requiring all state departments and agencies to "take all lawful action necessary and appropriate to prevent discrimination because of race, color, creed, or national origin."

How does the Governor intend to implement his order? Obviously he intends to use the licensing power of the state.

All places catering to the general public in Kentucky, must obtain some form of license in order to operate. And Gov. Combs has indicated that his Executive Order ipso facto stand athwart human bodies and the needs of the human body?

When will they learn that juridical trickery is no counterpoint to the onward flow of masses of human beings with "people's rights" which supersede any written strictures intended to impede just needs?

How long will people, white and black, tolerate the tricky Court Game, which prolongs our agony? When will Washington or the United States Supreme Court devise a legality which outlaws or stymies the "due process" of our modern John Calhouns?

When will a President say bluntly to one of these Governors, "Now we have read you the fundamental law. Do what you are told and don't drag this back into one of your local lopsided courts again!"

The law's delay, trickery and procrastination has been one of our great enemies. No wonder we have learned to appreciate the power of protest, boycott, demonstration, picket line, and hard-won high level negotiation.

empowers Kentucky's licensing authorities to revoke and suspend the licenses of those places of general public access that practice racial discrimination.

One of the anomalies of the racial situation in the United States is that there already exist on the books laws and ordinances in a number of states and local communities that could be used with telling effect for improving race relations, and for removing the just complaints of Negro citizens.

But such laws and ordinances are far too often ignored. The result is the Federal government has been forced to bear the full brunt of the civil rights battle.

The Kentucky Governor has set an admirable example that other Governors, particularly in the North and West, could follow with great benefit to their states. This would be one of the effective means of leveling down some of the barriers to full citizenship rights.

Body Guards For Civil Rights Leaders

After Medgar W. Evers was fatally shot in the driveway of his home in Jackson, Miss., on June 12, someone suggested that the Federal Government should send bodyguards to protect Civil Rights leaders in the South.

Before Mr. Evers was slain, a bomb had been tossed at his home, and it was quite evident that elements in the area were trying to kill him or some member of his family. Jackson police were not assigned to the area to protect them or prevent someone from being slain.

Bombs have been tossed at the home of Dr. Aaron G. Henry in Clarksdale, Miss., and following the assassination of Mr. Evers, the NAACP field secretary for the state, it is only reasonable to assume that Henry, president of NAACP branches in the state, sleeps not too easily.

Who knows when someone, lurking in the cover of darkness, will peep through a telescopic sight, squeeze the trigger of a high-powered rifle and snuff out the life of another heroic fighter for equality for all in this "land of the free and the home of the brave?"

When L. C. Bates and his wife Daisy were living through the Little Rock crisis over desegregation of that city's schools, they knew that some fanatic might try to kill them. So what did they do?

They, or someone who understood the situation, employed guards to watch their home at night. The word seem to get around.

One night, while we were assigned to that city to cover the situation, we were seated at a table with Bates and he mentioned the guard outside. Surprised, we asked, "Oh, do you have someone standing guard outside?"

Although he had a pistol within reach, Bates answered, "Of course we do. Do you think that I would sit near this window if there were not someone outside on guard?"

Later that night we stepped outside and did not see a soul. That is, we did not see anyone until we noticed a man seated in the truck of a driveway across the street. On closer inspection we saw a man equipped to stand off a small army. It would have been suicide for a fanatic to have come close enough to draw a bead on the Bates.

The next year, when the schools were closed we were at the Bates' home when a fanatic came into the area and fired a shot in that direction.

But the person, who was never caught, was fearful of what might happen to him if he came too near, and he fired a wild shot that crashed into the home of a white family. Fortunately, no one was killed or injured, but some children were in the room watching television at the time.

Carl Rowan, the present U.S. Ambassador to Finland, was in Little Rock at the time covering the situation for his Minneapolis paper, and was among the first to enter the house.

A gruff policeman, who wanted to blame the Bates' for shooting—indirectly—inquired as to why Rowan was inside the house, and the veteran reporter said: "I am in here by permission of the owner," and added, "I haven't fired a shot."

The point we are trying to make is that had not L. C. and Daisy Bates taken the necessary precautions in those days, they might not be alive and still fighting for equal rights today.

If Negro Civil Rights leaders cannot receive protection from city, state or Federal governments, then they must rely upon their neighbors for that protection.—(As related by McCann Reid)

JACKIE ROBINSON

Racial Unity Essential During Negro Revolution

I WAS SOMEWHAT disappointed the other day when I read some statements the newspapers attributed to my friend, Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

I am a member of the national board of the NAACP and I will tell anyone that Mr. Wilkins has done a magnificent job. Yet, it shocked me the other day when he was quoted as casting disparaging remarks against other civil rights agencies.

Mr. Wilkins is alleged to have said that the NAACP does all the work and the other groups get all the publicity. He was quoted as appealing to people not to send their contributions to other groups, but to the NAACP.

Of course, the NAACP has done a grand job. And, of course, this organization needs and must have large sums of money in order to carry on. But I say to Mr. Wilkins that it is dangerously foolish for our own to divide our ranks at a time when we need our greatest unity.

We cannot defeat ourselves against those who would defeat our thrust toward human dignity if we are to fight within our own house and advertise the clash of our egos to the neighborhood. I do not say this as a would-be leader. I do not think I have the ability and know I do not have the inclination for leadership. I say this as one man, one individual. I say this as Robinson.

If our leaders allow themselves to become involved in a power struggle—if they permit themselves to begin squabbling and pointing fingers at each other, we shall be lost.

Unrest Already Exists

IRONICALLY, the rumblings of unrest among our leaders began to be heard in the wake of that dark moment when Medgar Evers was struck down by an assassin's bullet. Disunity is no proper memorial to give to a courageous man who died in order that we might win freedom.

The death of Medgar Evers should have served as a clear and ringing call to all men who love freedom to close ranks in the quest for that freedom. I say we must close ranks not only with others of our own race who seek the realization of the American dream. We must close ranks with those of other races who are committed to this cause.

Each of our organizations on the civil rights scene has its own value. Although I am involved deeply with the NAACP, I am doing a great deal of work to help and encourage Dr. Martin Luther King and those courageous men who go to jail and suffer beatings, whose lives are threatened and who still stand tall in the front ranks of the Southern fight.

ALFRED DUCKETT

NOT TOO LONG ago, colored folks had a hard time getting their names in the newspapers—unless they did one of the following:

- Stabbed someone.
- Committed a robbery.
- Got picked up for rape.
- Won a fight title, pitched a no-hitter or established a speed record.

Things are different now! It's hard to find any news in the daily press about what white folks are doing except:

- Being picketed.
- Being demonstrated against.
- Making statements saying colored folks should be free—but not just yet awhile.
- Making statements saying Negroes should be allowed to go anywhere

It is our obligation to support them and just as disappointed as I was in Roy Wilkins' statements the other day, I was just that proud of him when he went down to Mississippi and deliberately presented his own person for arrest.

I remember the time when Mr. Wilkins was quoted as saying it wasn't NAACP policy to go to jail. Well, here he showed himself big enough to adjust to circumstances—and leaders must be flexible in the midst of shift and change, if they are to lead.

Raps Whitney Young

I WAS ALSO disappointed to hear the report that Whitney Young of the Urban League said in a meeting with Senator Javits that he sees no reason why he should go to jail. With all due respect to Mr. Young, I see no reason why he should go to jail either if that is the way he really feels.

The decision on whether a man goes to jail in the cause of freedom ought to be an individual decision. Yet, I see no reason either why Mr. Young should express himself publicly or semi-publicly on the matter at a time when the course of history and the shape of current events are being altered by young and old all over this nation who are making this kind of sacrifice.

Such a statement, coming from such an important leader, could give the wrong impression. For the truth is—and it has been proven—that vast numbers of Americans admire and deeply respect those who are going to jail.

They agree with Martin King that it is possible for the disciple of non-violence to "transform the dungeons of shame into havens of freedom and human dignity."

Revolution Is Real

THAT'S WHY I believe Mr. Young made an error in making his statement.

The Negro revolution is real. The reason I am so concerned about keeping our leadership and our people together is that I want freedom so badly that I don't care who I get it from.

I can't get it from Communism, for Communism will not allow me to think for myself, or vote my own mind or speak my own piece. I can't get it from the Muslims for I cannot be free in a world of many races, if I try to live in some little cubicle I created for myself.

I can get it from the NAACP, the SCLC and CORE. I can get it from the Urban League and the Students Non-Violent Coordinating Committee and from white and black people, all united in a crusade for freedom. But they must unite or I will never be free.

they please, but not to Washington this particular summer.

Going To Their Aid

I AM GOING to organize a National Association for the Advancement of White People so they can get written up some more.

It's terrible the way things are.

The Negro revolution is no laughing matter. It is for real. It proves that the billy clubs of Birmingham, Bull Connors pups and the execution of Medgar Evers made folk feel colored who never felt colored before.

DARK SHADOWS

by NAT D. WILLIAMS

GOD'S RAMRODS

James Weldon Johnson, the great Negro poet, once penned a small collection of sermons typical of those delivered by early Negro preachers. He referred to the preachers as "God's Trombones." His presentation of the sermons and his interpretive description of the old time Negro preachers themselves constitute a modern classic.

Johnson left a lasting monument to the Negro preachers of another era... in days not too far gone by, when the Negro minister was the "voice of his people," and traditionally acknowledged leader in social, religious, political, and most of the cultural areas of Negro life in America.

Perhaps, in this day, or later, there will arise another writer of sufficient insight and power of expression to catch and immortalize the spirit and personalities of many of the present-day Negro preachers who are still rendering such yeoman service during the current revolutionary period in Negro life.

For it is not to be mistaken that despite the work of brilliant Negro lawyers, businessmen, educators, labor leaders, Negro preachers are still very much in the forefront of those leading the Negro's efforts to attain full citizenship status. The most outstanding American Negro civil rights fighter is indisputably Rev. Martin Luther King... a preacher.

Reverend King is typical of scores of other Negro ministers who are in the fight on an all-out basis. In cities all over the country where Negroes are concentrated preachers are conspicuous among their top ranking leaders. These men are among the "ramrods" in the Negro's drive for equality.

LEADERS IN NORTH

So, it was not surprising to several Memphians, visiting Detroit, Michigan recently to note the work of two former Memphis preachers who accepted charges in that northern metropolis. They were active and effective young ministerial leaders in Memphis. And now they have achieved the same rank in Detroit. They worked together to lead the historic Detroit mass demonstration of Negroes last month... in which more than 125,000 persons participated. White and Negro marched together. The top civic, educational, labor union, and political figures of Detroit marched with the demonstrators, organized and motivated by the group in which these two former Memphis ministers were among the top leaders.

In fact, the man on the street in Detroit, gives one of the men, Rev. C. L. Franklin, now pastor of one of the city's leading churches, Bethel Baptist church, the credit for spearheading the Detroit March. He was ably assisted and supported by the other Memphian, Rev. William C. Ardrey pastor of Detroit's St. Paul CMEZ Church. Detroiters trust the men. At a meeting following the major demonstration, Rev. Franklin presided and was among those authorizing Reverend Ardrey to take a check for $27,000 to Birmingham to help strengthen the Southern Christian Leadership Conference headed by Doctor King.

ENERGETIC MEN

It is significant that Reverends Ardrey and Franklin have attained such remarkable status among the people of Detroit in such a comparatively short time since they left Memphis. Both are young, energetic men. Both had achieved outstanding success in their profession of the ministry. Both already enjoy wide reputations on a national level, both have reached that position in life of having "arrived." Many another men in the same situation would undoubtedly rest on his oars... taking what many would accept as a "deserved rest."

But not these two men. Apparently they are the type that just can't take a "rest" when there is so much to be done for their race and this nation. They are big enough to see the task before them... men enough to accept the challenge of the task... and gifted enough to be effective in getting the ball rolling.

The people of Memphis are pardonably proud of these two young "ramrods" for progress and growth. They are proud to say they know them... and that they once associated with them as fellow citizens of Memphis, the home of Beale Street, where the blues began. They are proud that these men carried something more than the "blues" away from Memphis. They carried an energy which had been to some extent conditioned by their experiences with the Memphis conditions that bred the blues.

Colored Majority

It is even reflected in the temper of people about giving financial aid to the Fight For Freedom. At the recent Back Our Brothers $100-per-plate banquet for Dr. King and his three top aides, there was a majority of colored people in attendance.

Many had thought there would be more whites on hand because of the fancy price.

At an afternoon of jazz on Jackie Robinson's lawn in Stamford, a lovely affair which Mrs. Robinson and Singer Marion Bruce Logan organized in a few short weeks, $30,000 was raised.

It just goes to show that we are finally beginning to realize that it "costs something to be free."

Travelling--A La Carte!

To more than one million Americans, it's travel time. More Americans than ever before plan to board jets or luxury liners bound for foreign ports this summer. More than half will go to European countries — but the majority will still be at sea when a local menu is placed before them.

Most menus are in French. Someone in the restaurant can always advise you as to what you're being offered to eat, if necessary. But a few basic French terms will carry you a long way, a la carte!

Points to remember:

(1) The words a la can be helpful to know the description of many main dishes on a menu. Most often, a la means "in the manner of" or "in the style of." Thus, a l'anglaise usually means made the way they do in England, and a la parisienne would be the way they prepare it in Paris. It's a generalization, but it helps.

(2) When a dish is described as a la normande, you can be quite sure that it will contain one or more of the regional products — such as milk, apples or seafood — famous in Normandy. Another common term is a la provençale — and you can count on olive oil, tomatoes and garlic, as they cook in the Provence.

(3) Do get invited into a private home, if possible. No menu problem, and you'll enjoy the finest offerings of the area. Europeans like to entertain, and often prepare far more elaborate meals than they ordinarily eat themselves.

(4) Be sure to take a small pocket-size dictionary for each country you plan to visit. Keep your French dictionary handy, however, for menu checking. When you order, never be too surprised at what you're served. You'll make mistakes — and your waiter will misunderstand you occasionally. Taste everything, with an open mind and ready palate. You'll enjoy your journey much more.

The JACKSON Scene by Anna C. Cooke

TIME FOR BELLS

The celebration of the Fourth of July attempted to bring back its full meaning in Jackson by the ringing of bells commemorating the occasion. There were still the annual picnics and get-togethers with barbecue being the main dish on the menu. The Sportsman Club picnic on the Club lake site in Madison County is always a grand affair where fishing and boating can be enjoyed.

Religious leaders and laymen of the CME Church used their Fourth in the meeting of the District Conference which was held for four days at Salem CME church in Madison County. Rev. William Johnson was the host pastor.

In Jackson in time for the Fourth and a week's visit as guest of Dr. and Mrs. W. R. Bell is Mrs. Homer Alexander, better known as "Chick," of Chicago. She is accompanied by her adorable little granddaughter, Linda, who spent a greater part of her time with her little friend, Elsie Cooke.

NAACP DELEGATES
In Chicago, Ill. for the annual convention of the NAACP from the Jackson chapter were Mr. Albert Porter, Mrs. M. B. Monroe, Dr. Allan Ward, Miss Genevieve Brooks and Miss Eleanor Grimes. Miss Grimes is president of the Youth chapter of the NAACP and Miss Brooks is advisor. Mr. Porter is advisor to the Lane college chapter. I'm sure a rewarding experience was gained by each of them and Jackson will strive to do greater things upon their return.

The annual membership Drive of the NAACP was opened last Tuesday night in the Lane college auditorium by Mrs. Marie Penn, membership chairman. If you are not already a member, you are urged to join now.

The first session of summer school closed last week on the campus of Lane college. With the closing was the Laboratory School which was under the direction of Mrs. Alfreda Porter, supervising teacher. The closing program on Tuesday, July 2 featured the students in "An International Fiesta" after which open house was held displaying work of the students.

The Laboratory School is designed each summer in the Division of Education to give student teachers a chance for on the job training as well as a wonderful educational experience for interested youth in grades 1 through 8. Mrs. E. M. Perry is Director of Student Teaching.

WOMEN RAISE $4,000

Women's Day at the Morning Star Baptist church was at its best from all points, according to ladies who have worked thru the years in this effort. The morning service was highlighted by a stirring sermon by the pastor, the Rev. J. H. Mathis, with appropriate music from the choir.

The afternoon service was one long to be remembered as the wife of the pastor gave a most interesting address, on the theme, "A New Frontier for Women in Times Like These."

She was introduced by Mrs. L. B. Croom, followed by a solo by Mrs. Nelda Williams. The message was followed by a solo by Mrs. Willie Poston. The ladies' victory was further established as they put nearly $4,000 on the table for the quarter's effort. The pastor expressed appreciation for the co-operative service by both men and women.

Officials for the day were: Mesdames Jerlean Douglas, general chairman; Slua Ellison, program; Roxie Harrell, finance; Sallie Clement, social; Mosie Reid, decoration; Frances Fields, usher; Lerlia Lyons and Lena Reid, secretaries. ## LAKEVIEWING WITH GERRI

EASY LIVING SUMMERTIME

Being sedulously sensitive to the slightest palpitation along the fun line, your scribe diligently detects and dutifully records for you, all the meanderings of Lakeviewites. Believe me, there's plenty!

Recently, members and guests of "The Coterie" flocked to the lovely residence of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Langford where popular member, Mrs. W. L. (Leona) Jamison entertained them most royally.

Especially enjoying the delicious vittles and warm hospitality extended were Mrs. Ruby Spight, Mrs. Ruth Weed, Mrs. Estelle Eggleston, Mrs. Edith Herron, Miss Ada Ateman, Mrs. Ovena Langford, Mrs. Thelma Cochran, members; guests present were Mrs. Thelma Nichols and Mrs. Mae Alice Blanchard. Afterwards, this gay group played bridge, swopped small talk while Lee (as she is affectionately called) served them their choice beverages and desserts from the bountiful buffet table.

BITS 'N' PIECES

In the pursuit of knowledge this summer are Joe Atkis, vibrant young principal of Corv Junior high, who's tugging away on the doctoral program of UT on Memphis State's campus; A. D. Miller, former head grid coach of Douglas High and now principal of BTW's Evening School, who will receive his hood next month from Memphis State; Mrs. H. Ralph Jackson, Memphis State; Mrs. Moses (Valois) Perry, Tennessee A&I; Lawrence A. Wastley, Memphis State — studying on a program devised for auditorium teaching, a new phase added to the curriculum last school term in Memphis city schools; Mrs. Walter (Dot) Evans, Memphis State; Harold Osborne has obtained a sabbatical leave to do further study at Tuskegee commencing this fall.

Alice Johnson, "Miss LeMoine," went to Detroit for the Alumni celebration. Mrs. Henry (Cleora) Neale has returned from a brief visit in New Orleans. Martha and Harold Galloway and Junior are back home from their trip to Birmingham and surrounding "Bama cities." Dr. and Mrs. H. Ralph Jackson, along with their two charming daughters, Zita and Sherrie, jetted to and from Detroit last week. Nedra, her aunt, Mrs. Gladys Hardeman from Detroit and the Smith siblings just returned from a visit with relatives in Ruston, Louisiana. This quintet took to the highway in "Black Beauty," per name for the family's Valiant.

Mrs. Ortie (Jeanette) Carr chose Mayo Brothers as the spot in which to spend a few relaxing days. She, too, chose to travel via 707 and 888.

A card from the Monroe Coulters, describing their extensive tour of California and the West as "THE MOST!" Mrs. C. D. Coleman is up and about again. She is practically "in the pink" once more after undergoing surgery, recently. However, we'll be glad when she's fully recuperated.

A sin of omission by this scribe in extending long-overdue condolences via this column to the A. D. Millers who suffered the loss of their father sometime ago in St. Louis. Our sympathy is also extended to Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Brown and family of 192 Honours who lost their uncle recently.

Our Girl Scouts have a house but they are in need of leaders and furnishings. If you will lend these fine young ladies a helping hand, call this scribe at 397-9776 — they will be most grateful for whatever assistance you can give. Felton Forks, III, a recent graduate of Howard University, was one of 25 pre-med students selected to participate in a special reading program at the university.

NEWCOMERS

Our lovely community is all the more rich with the presence of these recent homeowners who have joined us. They are Elder and Mrs. C. W. Allen, Horn Lake Cove; Mr. and Mrs. Earl McPherson, Ortie Drive; Elder and Mrs. Ralph Peay of Chattanooga, Ortie Drive; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hamilton, Horn Lake Cove — he is an X-ray tech at Kennedy, and Mrs. and Mr. Willie B. Streeter and daughter, Cherri, who is a teacher in the city school system. They are at home on Honduras Cove. We roll out our "red velvet carpet" for welcome to these very fine people.

DR. N. M. WATSON

A MAJOR OPERATION

A major operation is being performed by Dr. Watson and Dr. A. A. White.

THE LAST CLASS

The last class to complete training after the training school for registered nurses had closed. They completed the three-year training period and became graduate nurses. Seated on the front row is Mrs. Ernest B. Payne, who was an instructor for the class. Now she is a supervisor at Crump Memorial hospital.

MEMBERS OF THIS CLASS

Members of this class started out under the direction and instruction of Dr. C. A. Terrell, however, they completed the nurse's training period and graduated under the instruction of Dr. Watson and Dr. White, in charge. This was the last class of registered nurses taught by Dr. Terrell.

THE 1938 CLASS

The 1938 Class members and instructors of Terrell Nurse Training school.

Mrs. Andrew Wier represents the first practical nursing class.

THIS IS THE LAST CLASS

This is the last class to graduate before all nurse-training schools in a less than 100 bed hospital were closed.

Dr. Watson's Motto Is:

'Live Every Day, The Life That Is Pleasing In The Sight Of God'

"Knowing most physicians' attitude toward personal publicity it is quite difficult to obtain formal statements from them about their success or achievements in the practice of medicine. Dr. Norman Mancel Watson is no different than many other physicians.

Through the years Dr. Watson's motto has been "Live every day, the life that is pleasing in the sight of God." He feels that this statement is sufficient publicity for his success or achievements.

However, Dr. Watson has lived too full a life as a public servant to not have at least a brief story published of his professional achievements.

Mrs. Watson said "this approach is not customary — coming from a member of the family" — however, since she is the only person who knows more than any other person about the life story of her husband, she feels that she is the logical one to follow-up, as nearly as possible — the task Mr. Swingler had in mind.

Norman Mancel Watson was born in Harrellsville, N. C. July 4, 1890. He was the seventh of 10 children born to the late Joseph and Sarah Watson.

After completing public school he entered Waters Institute where he completed a teacher's training course. He then taught two years in the public school building given to the community by his father. Dr. Watson went to Shaw University in Raleigh, N. C. and earned a bachelor's in science degree, after teaching two years. He then entered Shaw University's school of medicine and remained three years. The senior year was interrupted by a storm while he was in mid-ocean, but determined to finish in that year's class, he applied at Meharry, Howard and the University of West Tennessee (founded by the late Dr. M. V. Lynk) which opened its doors to him and other classmates. Dr. Watson was graduated that year as president of the class.

TRAINING FOR NURSES
He interned at Jane Terrell hospital. After completing his internship, he remained and became assistant surgeon to the late Drs. C. A. Terrell, Joseph Johnson and Eugene Johnson. These outstanding surgeons observed Dr. Watson's unusual ability and technique early. He became their assistant professional associate as long as they lived.

Four hospitals — Collins, Mercy, Royal Circle and Wilson — became feeders for surgery. Dr. Watson was a constant participant in each of them until they closed. Jane Terrell was the only hospital to provide training for nurses at that time.

After the death of Dr. Terrell, Dr. A. A. White, an efficient house physician, assumed the responsibility of graduating the unfinished class under Dr. Terrell's administration. After the death of Dr. Terrell in the spring of 1932, Dr. Watson took over the administration of Jane Terrell Hospital and changed its name to Terrell Memorial hospital in honor of the founder. Dr. Watson carried out the program began by Dr. Terrell as well as added whatever was needed to expand and enhance the professional service.

PRACTICAL COURSE
Changes were made in the graduation exercises under Dr. Watson's administration. Classes, graduated in white caps and gowns at 11 o'clock in the morning at Metropolitan Baptist church, 767 Walker ave.

During World War II, Uncle Sam desired the country of doctors and nurses. The need for them was gravely felt. Those left on the home front were over-worked.

Dr. Watson introduced in the city, the practical course in nursing which consisted of one year training in both practice and theory.

These nurses gave wonderful assistance. Later six-week courses were established in high schools. At that time John Gaston hospital did not teach courses in practical nursing.

HIGHEST AMBITION
It is Dr. Watson's highest ambition to promote opportunities for those who want to render service to suffering persons.

A new $200,000 hospital was Dr. Watson's greatest desire. He has exerted every effort in attempting to interest Baptists in helping him conduct a drive for this purpose. Once when such a drive was all set to go, a committee, headed by the late Rev. Marshall Wingfield, met with Terrell's committee and promised to help if the Baptists would call off their drive until a later date after a gift of land was promised to Collins if the drive got under way immediately. They would return with double strength to help conduct a drive for Terrell, the committee said. The meeting closed with Dr. Watson giving the first $100 to the drive for Collins Chapel hospital.

The committee did not keep its promise and the blue print for the $200,000 Terrell hospital is neatly rolled in waxed paper and stored among the treasures and memoirs of Terrell.

FIRST SERIOUS ILLNESS
Apparently the disappointment did not hurt Dr. Watson. He said "defeat or no defeat, Terrell is much needed in this city and I shall continue as long as I am able to render to the public a needed service." However, as a result of not being able to see his dream come true, he was afflicted with his first serious illness — ulcers — in 1946.

Dr. Watson has always vouched for nurses who were graduated from Terrell Memorial hospital, because he knows what they can do wherever they are placed on duty. There were always an abundance of requests for nurses trained at Terrell hospital's training school — more than could be supplied.

GRADUATE STUDY
Among his many achievements Dr. Watson has assisted the late Dr. J. L. McMullens at the National Medical meeting in 1942; performed operations several times at John A. Andrews Clinic in Tuskegee, Ala. During the first appearance of the flu epidemic in 1918, he lost only two patients when entire families were being depleted. Insurance companies rated him as the lowest death-rate doctor in the city at that time.

Dr. Watson did post graduate study at Montreal, Canada, in obstetrics; deep surgery at Mayo Clinic; general observation in X-ray techniques at the University of Paris in France; women's diseases at University hospital in Denmark and observation in chest surgery at Oxford in London, England.

In 1936 when a hurricane swept through Tupelo, Miss., Dr. Watson was the first to arrive on the scene with T. H. Hayes ambulances to render service 24 hours with a conglomeration of splintered limbs everywhere. It was a experience which never to be forgotten.

In 1959 Dr. Watson was presented a plaque for 40 years of eminent service in the practice of medicine. He was called "the unsung hero." He was also highly honored as an American surgeon by the staff of the Hebrew hospital in New Jerusalem for assisting in removing a dermoydyst — they are very rare but he had removed one at Terrell.

A FAMILY MAN
The files at Terrell show the records of cases during Dr. Watson's administration there: 21,500 cases; 12,000 major operations; 23,000 minor and 2,000 fractures. Also 8,000 obstetrics.

Dr. Watson is a devoted Christian. He is a board trustee member at Metropolitan Baptist church; a member of the local, state and national medical societies. He is also a staff member of Collins Chapel and Crump hospitals and at John A. Andrews Clinic at Tuskegee Institute.

Mrs. Watson said: "If I may add a personal note about Dr. Watson, I can say truthfully he has never refused to administer to a patient who did not have the money or refused to make a call after office hours.

"He is a family man of the highest calibre, a devoted husband and father. As long as I have known him through the ebb and tide of his professional and married life, I have the first time to hear him speak unkindly of any person — white or Negro — regardless of circumstances.

"In response to mankind's actions or expressions against him, he always says 'get it off your mind quickly,' they don't know any better."

Sentimentally, he is a "Mr. Wonderful," and professionally, he is an unequalled public servant, says his wife.

Dr. Watson, today, lies gravely ill in the hospital he gave so much of life to — Terrell.

Mrs. N. M. Watson Has Worked Many Years At Her Husband's Side

Mrs. Watson Presented M.I. Alumni Award

Mrs. Ruth Irwin Watson, wife of Dr. Watson, has been a great potential figure in rallying to every wish of her husband in his practice of medicine. She has been the moving spirit through the years — in meeting, to the best of her ability, the emergencies which is experienced in the life of a doctor. Her interest extended not only to the hospital personnel and comfort of the patients, but also through the channels of other endeavors such as given inspiration and encouragement to students and faculty members at her Alma Mater, Mississippi Industrial college in Holly Springs, Miss.

Mrs. Watson who has long been known for the outstanding work she has done for Mississippi Industrial College's General Alumni association, was presented the Alumni Award of the Year at the college's 1963 Commencement exercises May 27th.

YOUNG PEOPLE

Making the presentation was Mrs. W. M. Frazier, wife of the late president of the college, who is president of the General Alumni association. The citation is a bronze plaque secured to a base of fine wood.

Mrs. Watson, wife of Dr. N. M. Watson, 741 Walker Ave., is the founder of the Memphis Fine Arts club, one of the city's outstanding cultural clubs.

Dr. and Mrs. Watson, for many years have awarded a prize annually to the college student who reflected more nearly the Christian Leadership ideals, in memory of Mrs. Watson's mother and father, Dr. A. A. Irwin who headed M. I. college's department of religious education and was the college pastor for many years.

When presenting the award to Mrs. Watson, Mrs. Frazier said "she is an active member of the Memphis Chapter of the M. I. Alumni club and we are very happy to so honor her for some of the many, many things she had done for the college and for the cultural development and inspiration to young people. It is our sincere hope and desire that she will continue her services to the college and her interest in young people."

WORLD TRAVELER
Accompanying Mrs. Watson to the commencement exercises were her two sisters, Mrs. Esther Ester of Memphis and Mrs. S. T. Nero of Holly Springs. The three sisters installed life-size twin mirrors in the front lobby of Carnegie auditorium of M. I. college.

Mrs. Frazier said of the mirrors "we will always enjoy the reflection of the personalities of students, faculty members and friends as they enter the auditorium."

Mrs. Watson has been very active in the cultural activities and development of Memphis. She is considered a world traveler, having visited 16 countries, including the Holy Land. She has accompanied her distinguished husband from the Atlantic to the Pacific while attending the National Medical Association's annual meetings over a period of more than 30 years.

Mrs. Watson is the founder of the first Ladies' Auxiliary of the National Medical Association and served a number of years as an officer in local, state and national organizations.

She became very well acquainted with the customs of other countries and people during her travel.

It was in Dr. and Mrs. Watson's palatial home that two M. I. college co-eds were privileged to meet and audition for Miss Marion Anderson. They were competing for the National Musician's Marion Anderson Award. The co-eds were praised by Miss Anderson, the international contralto, who was in Memphis for a concert.

Like her husband, many years of Mrs. Watson's life is wrapped-up in the experiences at Terrell hospital.

ALL COMERS MEET

A few years ago Memphis adopted a nationwide track program which would allow track and field buffs an opportunity to develop their talents during the off season. Because anyone can enter these cinder carnivals they are called "all comers."

The meets are staged periodically during the summer. This is the first year that Negro cindermen have been allowed to participate. Sepia stars have entered the meets staged thus far without incidents and have gone virtually unnoticed.

The last all-comers affair was held on the new Fairgrounds oval. Willie Dawson, who gained recognition in Sports Illustrated last spring after his record tying 9-4 100-dash at Melrose Stadium, was a double winner in his division. The Melrose junior capped the century and 220 sprints while Golden Wildcat teammate Frankie Briggance placed third in the 100 in another bracket.

In an earlier meet held at Southwestern former Prep League sprint champion James Garner tried his hand in the 440-yard dash and came out victorious in the quarter mile race. The Douglass High graduate will be a sophomore in Tennessee A&I State this fall. Garner is a member of the Tigers' track squad.

'GOOSE' CURRY CLOBBERED
Homer "Goose" Curry, a veteran of over 50-years in baseball, has an indefatigable love for the national pastime still left in his aging bones. The former Memphis Red Sox manager has been keeping close to the sport since the folding of the Red Sox and most of the Negro American League teams by catching on as a baseball scout with the St. Louis Cardinals and Kansas City Athletics.

Where baseball is played, be it in huge Yankee Stadium in New York or the city park in Hazelhurst, Mississippi, the colorful "Goose" has played there. Fans knew Curry best for his circus like rharburs with umpires all over the country. The little skipper with the who me expression was labeled the Leo Durocher of the Negro circuit. Many observers felt Curry strived on that reputation as an added drawing card.

Curry wasn't at all the character he portrayed during his numerous upheavals with the men in blue. On the contrary, he was more of a soft guy to those who knew him well. However, on the field he has had spitting wars with some of the biggest arbiters. When Hamilton athletic director Earl "Porky" Wynne was umpiring at Sulphur Dell park in Nashville, Tennessee he often was challenged by the fiery ex-Philadelphia Stars pitcher-outfielder. That was a feat within itself because with his equipment Wynne looked like a Roman gladiator en route to a jousting tournament behind the plate.

Short and stocky in stature, Curry had a big heart with an insatiable desire to win. He still possesses a bucket of guts which were eminently displayed recently in an all-star game at Bellevue Park. The "Goose," his age estimated by some of the oldtime Red Sox players attending the game to be at least 70, strutted out and hurled the first three innings under a 90 degree sun. He was hit pretty hard but had his outfield support been up to par Curry would have been able to hold his own against the opposing all-star nine made of players from the Semipro League.

BIRMINGHAM INCIDENT
When Curry went into one of his name calling, dirt kicking rages you could count on him being thumbed to the showers. No different from other managers and players who were waived to the sidelines Curry often would stay around a bit longer to try and get in a few last remarks. It was after being ejected from a game in 1951 that baseball history was made and witnessed by this writer. When Curry got the heave-ho once in Chicago's Comiskey Park defending a point for his Red Sox against the American Giants he created a dust storm with his spikes. Curry had to be escorted to the tunnel leading to the dressing room by the park police.

This was quite a contrast to that sad day when a cop was summoned from the stands in Birmingham, Alabama by the umpires to keep Curry from delaying the game any longer. What happened when this young brash, obviously inexperienced lawman came on Rickwood Field, was most shocking and deplorable.

When he reached "Goose" and touched him Curry turned as if to explain something, but without allowance for consultation the policeman plastered him on the head with his blackjack. The blow would have sent many much younger men reeling to the ground. The stunned "Goose" immediately turned and walked away as if not hurt despite a bleeding forehead.

In court the next day, knowing to protest in "Bull" Connor's town was worthless, the "Goose" switched his tactics and played the fiasco up as a mere misunderstanding. Whatever the charges, they were dismissed. The cop probably was treated to a steak dinner by his ardent segregationist boss for his infamous deed.

Blame Poor Education For Army's Rejection Of Deep South Negroes

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Many Negroes in the deep South may not be getting enough education to qualify them for military service, according to a newly available Army "draft map."

The map was dated 1962. It showed that acceptance rates for draftees ranged from a low of 30.4 per cent in South Carolina to a high of 68.9 per cent in North Dakota. However, Negroes and other minorities in some large cities may not be faring much better. New York state and the District of Columbia, both with highly-rated public school systems, were also low on the acceptance list with percentages of 37.3 and 35.9 respectively.

The army figures applied only to draftees. Four-fifths of the 405,643 recruits brought into the armed services in 1962 were volunteers, and nine out of 10 men in this large category were qualified for military service. Only 81,387 recruits were obtained by draft. Since the average acceptance rate was 45.9 per cent, this meant that somewhat more than 95,000 draftees

Judge Weighs Albany, Ga. School Bias

ALBANY, Ga. — (UPI) — A Federal District Judge promised a decision before the end of the week of a suit to abolish school segregation in Albany and surrounding Dougherty County.

Judge J. Robert Elliott of Columbus, after a one and one-half hour hearing on a Negro petition said "I will make a decision before the week is over so that all concerned will know what their position is."

The petition was brought against the Dougherty County school board by the parents of 16 Negro children. The Negroes asked that the schools be reorganized into a "unitary, nonracial system."

The Negroes contended the school system is operating on a segregated basis in violation of the 14th Amendment to the Constitution.

were rejected for physical, mental or "administrative" reasons. Rejections were about equal for mental and physical reasons but the wide variations by states were chiefly caused by failure to pass mental tests.

The Army published the raw statistics with no detailed analysis of the reasons for the differences. But one paragraph did suggest that where a high proportion of military-age men volunteered, the percentage of rejections in the remainder would be high.

The Army said this might account for differences "to a considerable extent."

The acceptance rate among draftees in South Carolina was only slightly higher than among non-English-speaking candidates in Puerto Rico, where 27.9 per cent of the candidates were able to qualify.

Mississippi had an acceptance rate of 33.3 per cent. Among others low on the list and their percentages were:

Alabama, 38; Florida, 34.2; Georgia, 38; and Louisiana, 39.8.

States with high acceptance rates and their percentages included:

Vermont, 63.4; Iowa, 63.6; Kansas, 64.1; Minnesota, 62.2; Nebraska, 66.8; Montana, 61.1; Utah, 60.7; and Alaska, 65.

In South Carolina and Mississippi the rejections for failure to pass mental tests were 47.3 and 44.6 per cent respectively. The average for the nation in this category was 22.4 per cent.

In the District of Columbia and New York state, rejections for failure to pass mental tests were 30.7 and 30.4 per cent, respectively.

The District of Columbia had an unusually high rate of 11 per cent rejected for "administrative" reasons, which usually means criminal or moral deficiencies.

The state of Washington rejected 9.9 per cent for "administrative" reasons, but the average for the country in this category was only 3.3 per cent.

The state of Washington had an unusually low rate of only 3.2 per cent rejected for failure to pass mental tests, which could result from careful screening by draft boards before the tests were given.

Governors' Civil Rights Unit Proposed By Rocky

ALBANY, N. Y. — (UPI) — A special committee on civil rights of the Governor's conference has been proposed by Governor Rockefeller.

Rockefeller submitted the proposal to be considered at the July 22-24 Governor's conference in Miami, it was announced.

The committee, to be composed of from five to eleven governors; would be directed by the conference to work toward three goals, according to Rockefeller's resolution.

They are: —Review and recommend ways in which the states can better assume and discharge responsibilities not only for the health and welfare of their people, but also for "the realization of their peoples' aspirations for freedom, dignity and equal rights."

—Review and recommend steps by which community leaders can be "brought into a cooperative, affirmative effort, at the community level that will be sensitive to community needs and problems and will assist in the realization of the required human freedom, dignity and rights."

—Cooperation with the President in working out with the Governors a "nationwide program toward achieving equal rights and opportunities, regardless of race."
